AJC Children's Foundation

Nathaly Gissel's mother passed away 3 years ago, the father abandoned his daughters to start a new family. Nathaly and her sister live in their mother's house. The older sister dropped out of school so Nathaly could continue with her studies. She believes that if she could complete the Industrial Engineering career, she could get a well paid job so she and her sister can support each other.